

Contemplative Art Making Instructor

Patty Rass is a School Sister of Notre Dame who has recently retired from 25 years of teaching in the Art Therapy Graduate Program at Mount Mary University. Over the years she has been involved in both educational and clinical art practices, focusing on the spiritual impact of the arts on one's growth in wholeness. Patty currently facilitates art therapy support groups and contemplative art sessions as well as gives presentations to various organizations on the topic of "Art & Wellness". Although she has dabbled in almost every media, her favorites continue to be watercolor, collage, and quilting.
